An Uncomplicated Solution

"When the time comes to save your life or that of another, you can bank on the fact that the light conditions will be poor, your threat will be moving, you will be moving, and time will not be on your side.

That, my friends, is a complicated problem.

The XS 24/7 Big Dot Tritium sight is an uncomplicated solution.

As a parting shot, always keep in mind that a victorious mindset and diligent training are the primary features in your survival plan. These assets must then be backed up with top-notch hardware.

XS Sights are a part of that hardware."

Paul G. Markel,
former US Marine, Police Officer,
Small Arms and Tactics Instructor.

"I've used XS aperture rifle sights in Africa, Alberta and America, for hunting everything from groundhogs to black bears. They are rugged and fast to acquire. I'd bet the farm on them as a primary sight or as a back-up to a riflescope."

Richard Mann, Hunter, Author

GAT-GLASS ASSAULT TOOL

PAUL HOWE is a 20-year veteran of the U.S. Army where he served as an Assault Team Leader, Sniper, and Senior Instructor.

"The GAT-Glass Assault Tool is a simple device that attaches to your weapon in seconds and that can penetrate glass with ease. We attached four to rifles in our Basic Swat course and students shot over 500 rounds with the devices attached. They did not come loose or change their zero.

The GAT is designed to penetrate car side and back window glass while enabling the operator to keep their hands on their weapon. It will also allow officers to defeat most cosmetic glass when responding to high risk missions such as active shooter or hostage rescue."

Shooting XS Ghost-Ring Sights

- The shooter's eye will naturally center the top of the Front Post in the XS Ghost-Ring.
- To accomplish this, the Shooter must visually focus on the front sight.
- When the shooter focuses on the front sight the XS Ghost-Ring will become a FUZZY ghost-like image.
- Even though the XS Ghost-Ring is fuzzy, the shooter's eye still centers the front sight in the Ghost-Ring.

The Bullet's Point intended Point of Impact may be either the center of the dot or the top of the dot. In both examples the front sight aiming point is centered in the Ghost-Ring.

TESTIMONIAL:

"I am a U.S. NAVY SEAL with three Combat Deployments to the Middle East. I have been using XS Sights for over one year now.

I find the BIG DOT on my close in combat pistols, and the M-4 and M-14 tritium sights to be very beneficial for faster target engagement and sight acquisition.

Thanks for your company's products and support."

"You need all the help you can get to solve your problem before it solves you. If seeing the front sight is a problem, the XS Big Dot is the solution."
